HTML Pages and Working Index

      I have made 5 pages. Search mods by pack, search packs by mod, profile, signup, and login. Search mods by pack will show you all the mods in a specific modpack. Right now it just has two divs in it. I'm going to have it split down the middle so search on the left result on the right. Search packs by mod will allow you to select certain mods and have modpacks with matching parameters show up. It's also just two divs at the moment. I'm going for essentially the same formatting as search mods by pack. The profile page will show all the info about you. Right now it's just a profile picture, username, bio, and area for favorite modpacks/mods. The signup and login page are pretty straight forward. They already have input boxes, buttons, and a little bit of styling to them. I'm sure I'll be adding at least one more page but I'm just not sure what it is quite yet.
